New Bedford, Massachusetts 02740

A Dedication to the NBHS Family

The Crimson Log '85 is dedicated to the faculty, staff, and students of New Bedford High School. Through the combined efforts of everyone at our school, New Bedford High School became one of the three Massachusetts secondary schools selected to receive national honors. The excellence award which was presented to NBHS was symbolic of the many years of tradition dedicated to excellence. Everyone in the NBHS family has shown this dedication to the traditional values which have made our school worthy of the honors bestowed upon her. Although we have faced problems, there always has been an awareness of the traditional values which keep NBHS on top. As the Class of '85 leaves, we thank everyone who contributed to the atmosphere of excellence and dedication at our school. It is this dedication which will be treasured forever by every student of our outstanding school.

New Bedford High School:

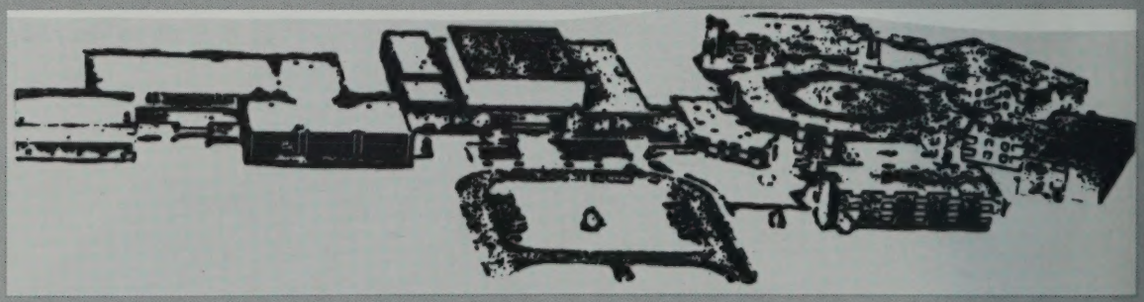
A Tradition of Excellence

Our city of New Bedford abounds in tradition. From the whaling industry of the last century to today's fishing and textile industries, New Bedford has developed a tradition of which all her citizens may be proud. As the town grew, so did the public education system. Through the years, the growing community never neglected the importance of providing a quality education for its young citizens. Since the incorporation of the town of New Bedford in 1787, the establishment of a school system was always a major consideration. The history of the public education system in New Bedford shows its continuing belief in the high quality of the education for all its people.

(Left) New Bedford's first high school was established by the town in 1827. The "little green schoolhouse" on High Street, which was built at a total cost of approximately four thousand dollars, began with an enrollment of twenty-two students.

(Right) The high school on County Street, the former Morgan Estate, was ready to be opened in 1922. In the mid-1930's New Bedford's third high school was expanded and was in use until 1972. Today the building exists as the Paul Rodrigues Administration Building.

(Above) The city's second high school on Summer Street was in use from 1912 to 1921. Today it is the location of the Sergeant William H. Carney Memorial Academy.



(Right) Our present high school, which was built in 1972, represents over a century of tradition. Through the years, New Bedford High School has grown and developed its tradition of excellence in education, culminating with the presentation of the Flag of Excellence to our school this past year.

New Bedford: A History of Tradition

During its growth, New Bedford expanded and diversified into many types of industries. The whaling industry in the 1800's brought prosperity and fame to the city. In fact, by 1857, half the whaleships in the country were owned by New Bedford, the greatest whaling port in the world. The "Golden Years" of whaling, however, ended about 1860 and the expansion of other industries, including cotton manufacturing, fishing, and agriculture began. The fishing industry, in particular, grew rapidly and in a short time, New Bedford became and remains one of the largest fishing ports in the country. This diversification of industries was a major reason for the progress made during the city's development. Today, New Bedford shows this enduring progress as it continues to grow and expand.

New Bedford: Then and Now

Although New Bedford has gone through many changes, the spirit, pride, and tradition have remained strong throughout the years of renovation. The following pages represent a special look at the ways in which New Bedford has changed into the city it is today. (Right) Ana Chereta and Randy DeBrosse stand in front of the former Morgan Estate along County Street looking south. (Below) The same view as it appeared in days gone by.

(Right): Sue Caron and Lisa Benedetti stand in front of the old high school showing County Street running north. The trees which once stood there have made way for the modernization of the city.

Buildings Reflect New Bedford's Past

(Below): Seniors stand in front of the Odd Fellows Building at the corner of William and Pleasant Streets. The building, located across from City Hall and diagonally across from the New Bedford Public Library, has undergone much renovation, including the destruction to parts of the top of the building.

(Below): Standing on Arnold Street are Scott, Matt, Steve, and Randy, showing the transformation of a historic area of New Bedford.

Historical Landmarks of New Bedford

(Above): Standing in front of St. Lawrence Church, located at the corner of County and Hillman Streets, are Sue, Lisa, and Mike. Time seems to have by-passed this building.

(Right): Scott, Grace, and Steve stand in front of the Trinity United Methodist Church at the corner of County and Elm Streets. Note the major change between the old and new view.

(Right): The "crew" stands at the statue located in the center of Claskey Park (The Common) between County and Purchase Streets

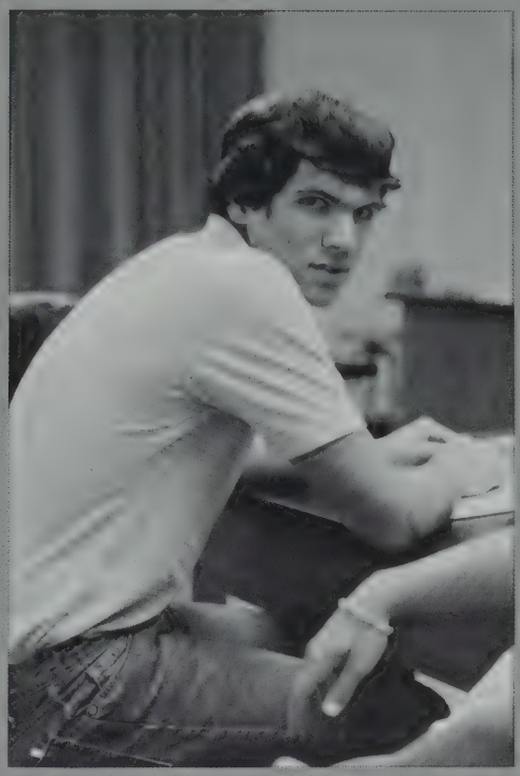
Fashion and Fads: How We've Changed

Trends in fashion and fads change with every generation. From the bustles and knickers shown in the photos of early New Bedford . . .

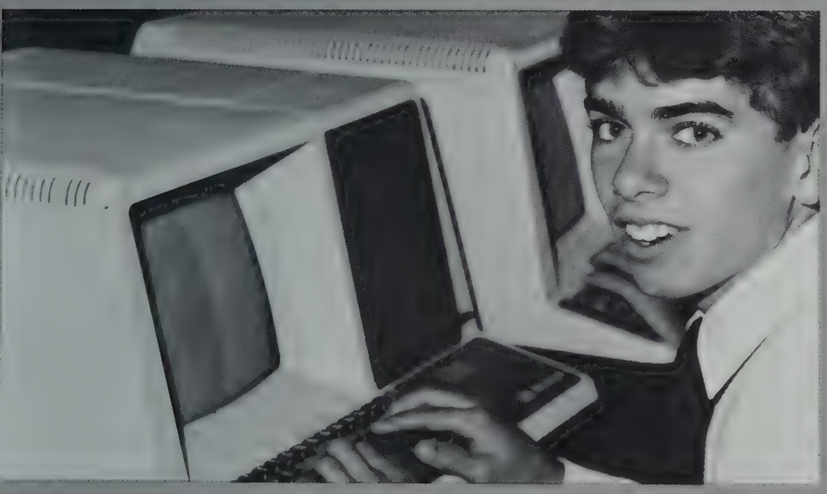
From . . .

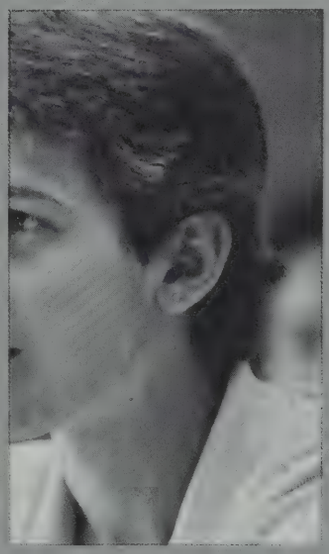
. . . to the petticoats, mini skirts, and pop beads of the fifties and sixties, fashion reflects the moods of the era. Included in the fun were the fads of hula-hoops and 3-D glasses!

The Class of '85: Anything Goes!!



To . . .

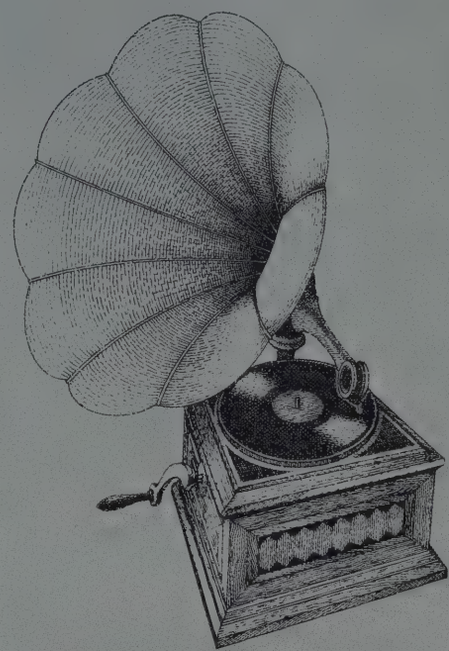




In 1985, the emphasis was on originality. Anything from punk to preppy was acceptable. However, jeans, alligator shirts, and bandanas continued to be popular fashion trends among teenagers. Computers topped the trends in fads, along with breakdancing, cabbage patch dolls, and unisex earrings.

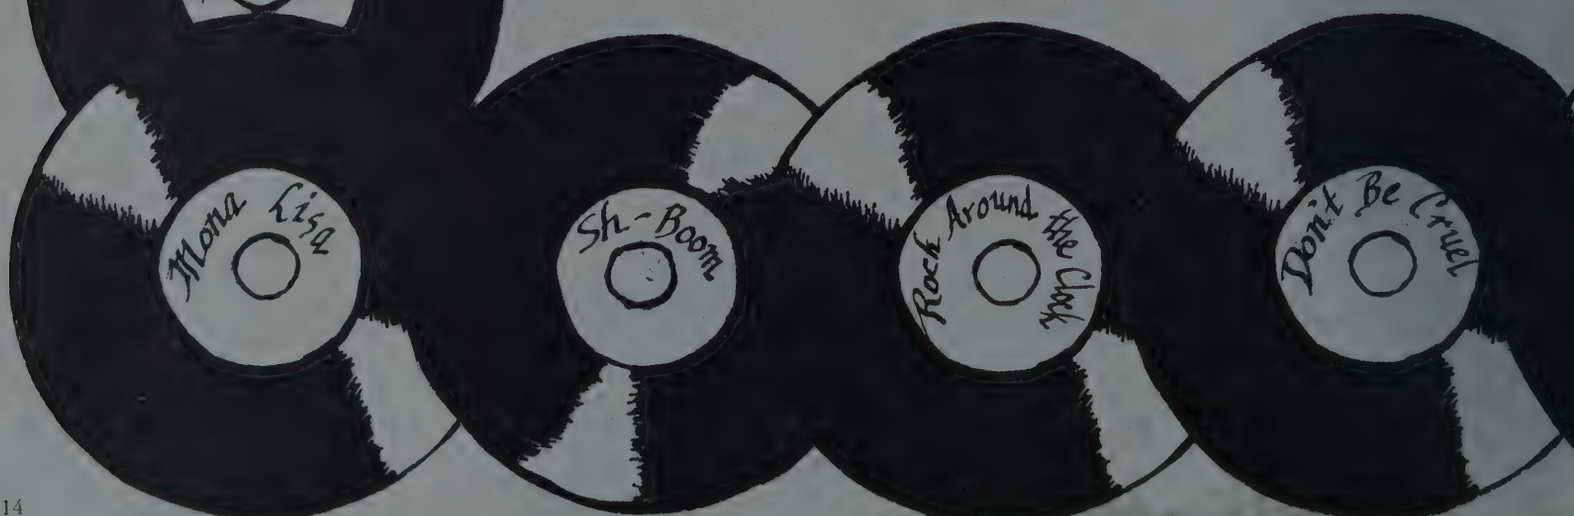
Follow the hit parade Music:

Every generation has relied on music to fill the waking hours. Whether sitting by the radio, dropping a nickel into the jukebox, spinning a favorite record, or slipping a cassette into his walkman, a teenager must have his music . . .



Gina Rodrigues and the senior girls not only love Jack Wagner's music, but they also voted him favorite date.

. . . As pictured here, tastes have changed over the years, but music lovers have not. They're fanatics about their "tunes."

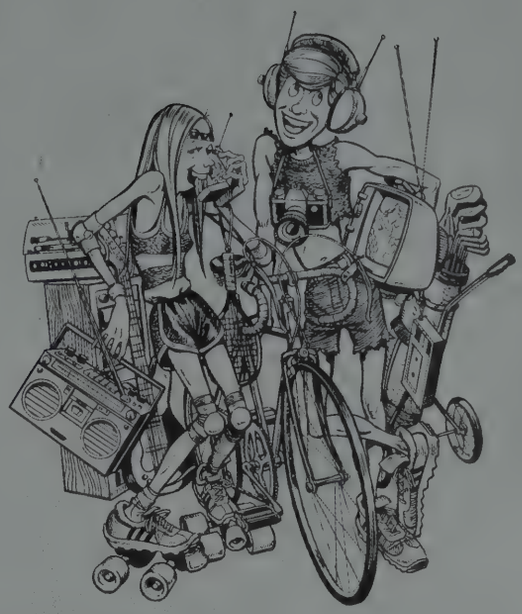


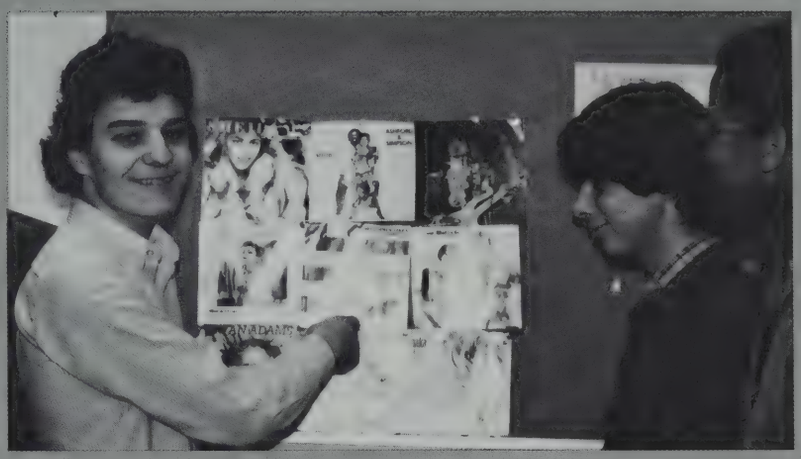
Past and Present

"Who knows what evil lurks..."

"Good evening Mr. and Mrs. America..."

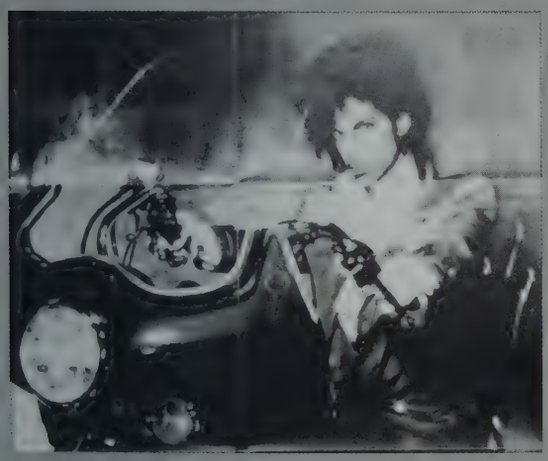
"With a mighty hi-ho Silver..."

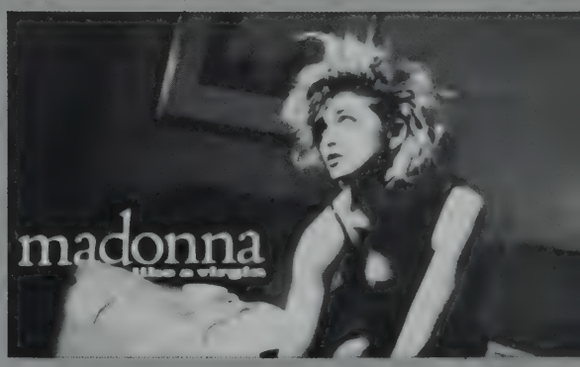




Joseph Goncalves, Peter Souza, and Mike Cruz debate their choices for the top records of the year.

P.S. We hope you enjoyed the photos of the past from our library and Time-Life Books.



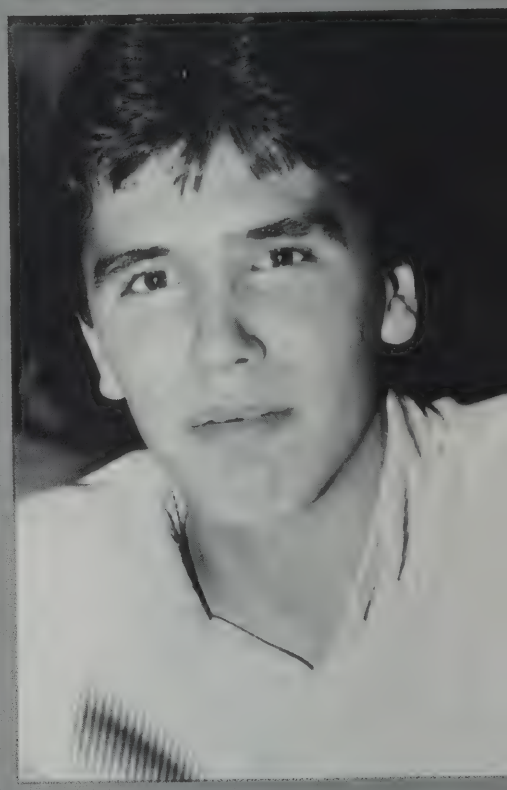


Seniors Rate Elvis with Stars of Today

The class of '85 had some very definite ideas on their favorite songs and artists of today. But when we asked seniors about the first rock-n-roll superstar, Elvis Presley, they had different responses. These seniors all agree; however, that times have changed.

Maria Germano calls Elvis an "Awesome Dude" and Raquel L'Italien feels he was the king of rock-n-roll. Both seniors now rate Bruce Springsteen as #1.

Lynne Melancon, a Prince fan, feels Elvis was all right for the older generation.



"Who?"

Sandy Medeiros feels Elvis set the trend in rock-n-roll. But today, Lionel Richie is at the top.

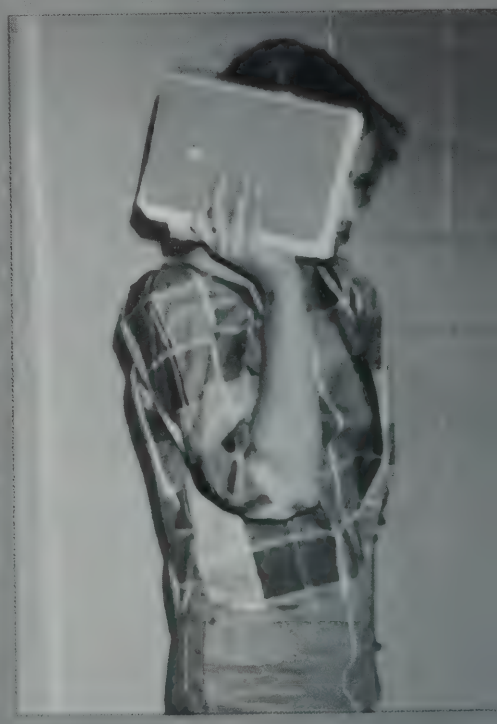
Today's Choices

1. Lionel Richie
2. Prince
3. Bruce Springsteen
4. Sting

~Groups~

1. Van Halen
2. Duran Duran
3. Run DMC
4. New Edition

Captain Whaler says, "As long as he didn't play for Durfee, he was great."



"No comment."

SENIORS

REPRESENTING THE CLASS OF '85 SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Leading the class through the various activities and events of senior year can be a very heavy responsibility. This year was no different. This group got the class off to a good start by winning the "Mayor's Trophy" for its entry during Spirit Week. That was a definite indication of the spirit of this class. After all, everyone knows you "Come Alive in '85!"

See you at the reunion in five years!

IN MEMORY OF CATHY VIEIRA

Cathy died December 24, 1983 at the age of 17. She had been seriously ill for two years. Often she could not attend school, but she desperately wanted to graduate from New Bedford High. She wanted to be a part of the student body in every way. Cathy was very brave and was more concerned about her family and friends than about herself. Her legacy to us is to value each day and not take for granted our achievements. We remember her with love.

A Special Message From Our Guest, Jens:

To my classmates in the class of '85,

Thanks to all of you with whom I shared the time in the classroom, on field trips, in clubs and orchestra, and to those who kept me company also in my spare time and activities outside the school building. We make up a great class with great spirit that I always enjoyed being a part of, especially during "Spirit Week."

New Bedford High School has chosen to give its students great opportunities in a variety of course offers, and this sometimes created an impersonal atmosphere and bureaucracy. I think NBHS teachers in all my classes have done a good job making up for this lack of personal concern and deserve to be acknowledged. At this place, also some praise to the lunch ladies: Even though at times they couldn't do anything about the quality and amount of our lunches, their friendliness has beyond a doubt helped many of us to get through some tough days.

Thanks to all the outstanding athletes and artists who have represented our school very well in many competitions, and thanks to the members of all clubs who have filled this school with life.

This class is composed of all ethnic groups and I take much pleasure in seeing everybody getting along so well with each other. This school doesn't suffer major racial conflicts — perhaps a reason more to be proud of than the "Excellence in Education" recognition. But there is still too much isolation between different groups.

One thing I was missing almost totally, and that kind of disappoints me, is the lack of social activity; that is, working for peace (Nuclear Freeze), environmental protection (let's go further than just keeping NBHS clean), and data protection (George Orwell's vision of "big brother is watching you" has come true already in some parts without us being aware of it.) A good democracy still needs critical citizens to assume responsibility for the country's well-being.

I wish everybody a great future career and success starting in college, business, or whatever steps you have chosen to take first. (Money is not everything!)

To close this letter, I want to encourage all seniors of the year '85 to pay a visit to my home country Germany or other parts of Europe to make some of the great experiences that I made being in the USA. It's gonna be a memory for a lifetime!

The dreams and aspirations of a senior in high school are far beyond the beliefs of the common world.

Our dreams will fade as we begin to mold into mature adults. Yet, the inspirations that were bestowed upon us by the teachers and the parents will never be forgotten.

The pride of a senior stretches beyond anything ever imagined, and nothing could damage or steal the feelings between a senior and his surroundings: the school for the education and spirit, the teachers for guidance and cooperation, and the parents for the love and inspiration.

The time has come for us to face the world and what arrives with it: its loves, its hurts, its declines and its advancements; the true and the false, and most of all, the friendships.

In our memory will be those eighteen years of life. The memories of old friends and the distant loves.

In conclusion we accept our adulthood with pride and dedication. Our immature stage has passed. We have finally reached the first stage of our mature life.

Patience
Be patient, for life has just begun to show promise for you.
Be patient, you will be loved by many others in years to come.
Be patient, you have the rest of your life to find happiness.
Be patient, soon you will be able to lead your own life.
Be impatient; Seek, explore.
Find the wisdom you need to make today your best ever.

Some things we shall forget; some things we shall remember
Like the people we have met, since way back in September.
The things we'll miss the most are the things that are so dear
Like the cafeteria's beef of roast, known as "the meal to fear"!
We also chose our mascot; Animal is his name.
And by the very shirts we bought, we know he's not so tame!
So don't you go and touch him, for you'll lose a nick or two
Since he is from the loony bin, or better yet, the zoo!
We're leaving him behind to keep you in your place.
Step out of line and you will find, he'll turn you into waste!
For don't forget that he depicts, what truly comes alive
And that's the class that truly clicks,
THE
'85!

Then... Senior Favorites Now... "Sports"

Bob Watkins

When Wendy Adriano was younger (above) she liked cartoons, but now her favorite is "The Bill Cosby Show."

Garrett Sylvia and Mike Cruz don't watch much T.V. They just enjoy clowning around, then and now!

Stephen Ferreira voted for "Three's Company," even though the Class of '85 voted "MTV" as its #1 favorite.

Past... Senior Favorites Present... "Television"

1978 Senior Favorites "Pastimes" 1985

Rules and Regulations

Did you know that . . .

. . . in the high school on County Street, boys and girls were not allowed to enter the school through the same door. Girls entered through the Morgan Street entrance, while boys used the Court Street doors.

. . . no student was allowed to proceed the wrong way on a one-way staircase.

. . . a suggested school dress code for girls stated that "we must remember that for the present, school is our business and dressy fashions from the latest Hollywood magazines are decidedly not appropriate."

. . . a 1949 student guide stated, "Let's remember that we're still really very young and if we must use make-up, we should use it to accent our features rather than bury them under a coat of "INDIAN WAR PAINT."

. . . boys and girls were not allowed to eat lunch together, but had to sit on separate sides of the cafteria.

The crimson-garbed Whalers of New Bedford, led by co-capt. Bill Meunier and Dave DePina, experienced not only a rebuilding season, but also a rollercoasting season of great wins and heavy losses. Although inexperience was a reason for some defeats, the attitude and individual performances of the 4-6 football team were not affected by this factor or by their earlier losses to Boston College High, Barnstable or even Dartmouth High.

The Whalers could have had possibly five of six games in their division. Most notably were the one-point loss to Attleboro and the two-point loss to Catholic Memorial. It seemed that in many of the games, time was the key factor.

Besides the fleet-footedness of Dave DePina and Dana Burgo, the Whalers' quarterback, jr. John Borowicz, gained some valuable experience with his "on-the-money" passes and running ability. The Whalers had a gold mine of talent this season which included the endurance of Billy Meunier and Richie Gomes and the quickness of Randy Debrosse and jrs. Jimmy Gomes and Dale Burgo; in addition to the stamina and strength of Tony Gomes, Don Cofer, and Jack N'Guia.

Despite disappointing losses, the team ended the season on a good note by beating arch-rival Durfee on Thanksgiving Day by a score of 29 to 14. In addition to the seniors mentioned, this was the last high school game for Matt Tierney, Jeff McKay, Tom Perry, Lydell London, Paul Boudreau, Doug Cabral, Jerel Augustine, Danny Lemos and Charlie Perry.

Under new head coach Ellie Reed, the 1984 Varsity Field Hockey team came alive with five wins and one tie, plus strong play against powerhouses Dartmouth and Bishop Stang Highs. The team was led with high determination and fine leadership of tri-captains Nina Chomak, Donna Morrison, and Nancy Panker, all of whom played respective roles in the team's long and tough season. Through the outstanding defense efforts of senior fullbacks Sharon Correa, Lynn Frias and Debbie Thibeault, the opposition's goal scoring was held to a minimum. The team's offensive campaigns were often led by the superior goal scoring of Laurie Fernandes, along with Kelly Dreher and Anne Schwartz. With the consideration of a fine underclassman turnout and the junior varsity's rebuilding year directed by new coach Ron Vaz, upcoming seasons look hopeful for success. As for the graduating class, the true sportsmanship and new success demonstrated by them will be remembered as fine examples for the upcoming varsity players.

Rebuilding Year Proves Successful . . .

The NBHS soccer team had plans to spend this season rebuilding. Looks like they've done it! With the help of excellent players such as Baltazar Almeida who was voted the Southeastern Massachusetts Conference Division 1's "Most Valuable Player" and the magnificent goaltending of freshman goalie Mike Carvalho, New Bedford finished its season as the Southeastern Mass Division 1 co-champions with an overall record of 17-2-1. The team was eliminated from the tournament by a 3-2 loss to Xaverian in the semifinals after having defeated Stoughton 4-0 in the opening round of the tournament and Wellesley 2-1 in the quarterfinals.

Seniors who will be missed are Baltazar Almeida, Tony Castro, Rigobert De Abreu, Joao Dias, Mike Fernendes, Alex Magalhaes, Roy Marmelo, Mark Oliveira and Sebastiao Rodrigues.

Winners Despite the Losses . . .

The New Bedford High School Girls Volleyball Team experienced a rebuilding year with the help and guidance of new head coach Neil Macedo and assistant coach Paula Karalekas. Jessica Langlois and Lisa Berard, the Whalerettes' co-captains, led the young, but hard-working team into action.

Despite a disappointing season, the girls' enthusiasm and spirit were at its highest during each game. Individually, the team had powerful servers in juniors Diane Swire and Barby-ann Silva. The quickness of Tina Poulin, Donna Brown and Kelly Taylor proved helpful to the team's cause. In addition to the co-captains, the great all-around playing of Chris Leger, Bernie Weier and freshman Tracey Harrison moved the Whalerettes closer to a win during the tight games of the season. Inexperience and time were the key factors of this year's team.

The members of the senior class who played volleyball were Margie Zable, Barbara Silva and Betty Trznadel.

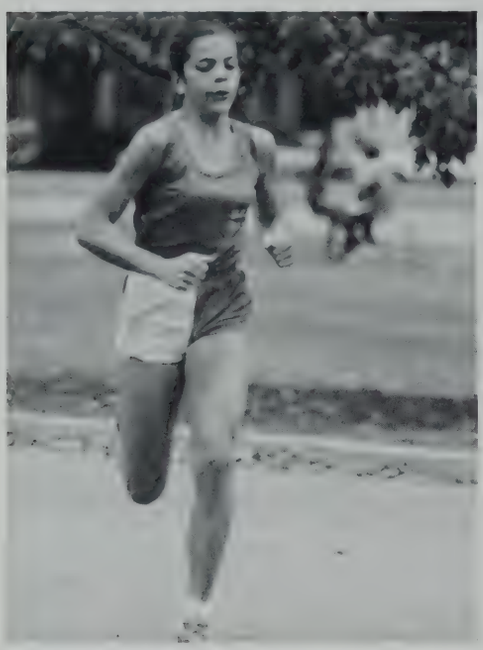
Another Successful Season . . .



The Boys' Cross Country team recorded a 5-4 record this fall. Whaler runners were led by senior capt. Andy Wolfe who became the third fastest Whaler on the Buttonwood Park 3 mile course with a time of 14:39. Seniors Joe Taveira, Steve Klakowicz, Mike Cruz and Joe Varela contributed heavily to the New Bedford cause throughout the season as well.

The Whalers improved steadily throughout the season and avenged September losses to Attleboro and Barnstable at the SMC League Championship.

The New Bedford High Girls' Cross Country team was created in the fall of 1983, and they showed signs of promise. Their accomplishments in their second season of existence made the Whaler athletic community extremely proud.

Competing in what most observers call the toughest cross country league in the state, the Whalers fashioned a 5-4 dual meet record, while still saving their best for last! In November, they finished 3rd in the Eastern Mass Division I championship at Franklin Park and the following week captured a 7th place finish in the Mass State Finals at Mt. Northfield, MA on a snowy, 35° day.

Whaler captain Sue Caron provided clutch performances in both championship meets. Senior track star, Michelle Girard missed the majority of the season with a foot injury. Other top performances were turned in by juniors Liz Alves and Kathy Mulligan; and a trio of freshmen, April Beaulieu, Hilaria Rocha, and school record-holder, Sue Watkins. The future looks bright for next year's squad.

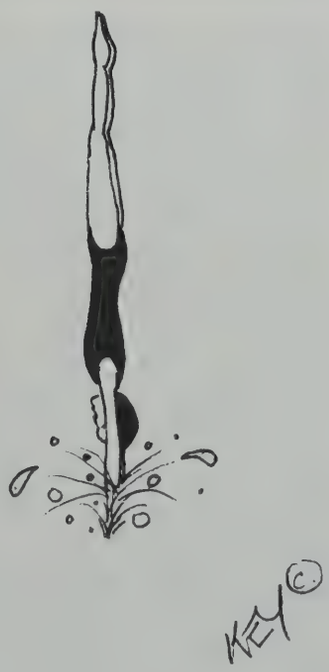
State Finals — 10th



The Girls' Swim Team ended a successful season with a dual meet record of 6-2-0 and with a strong showing at both sectional and state meets. Much of the team's success can be attributed to the fine leadership of Renee Berthiaume and Nicole Fernandes who both participated in post-season championship meets.

Seniors Roberta Verville and Ursula Wilkinson provided many valuable team points, most of which were earned at crucial moments. Other paramount efforts came from seniors Alyson DePrato, Sue Duhamel and Tricia Swain, all of whom have been with the team for four years.

Superior diving performances were given by Beth Shaugnessy throughout the season. She set several records while helping her team to victory.

Also giving strong efforts were Anne Verville, Beth Schwartz and Kathy Foster. These girls also offer great hope, along with Ms. Shaugnessy, of a superior team in the works of next year!

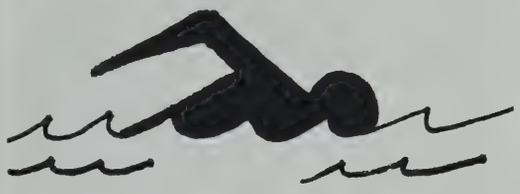
With the Whalers' first season back from SMU, a renewed interest from the student body proved to be a bit of an incentive for the team. The season started off with a fine posting of second place in the Southern Conference Relay Carnival. The season then turned into a fast paced and often tough schedule, with some added out-of-league dual meets. The year climaxed with the team's first defeat over Durfee High in two years and a strong showing at third place in the Conference Meet at Attleboro High.



Coach Medeiros commends the hard work and dedication exhibited by senior co-captains Russ Clark and Scott Barrows. This dedication also carried throughout the rest of the seniors and each performed in a manner which brought great success to the team.

Clark, along with senior Curt Nelson, led the way for the team in the sprint freestyles both individually and in the 400 and 200 relay teams respectively. Barrows in the breaststroke and Pete Marques in the butterfly brought valuable team points when needed most. Senior Roy Marmelo was the team's main swimmer in the individual medley and distance freestyling. Dave Halle, a breaststroker, and Bill Hathaway, a backstroker, were both depended upon heavily in the later events for some crucial points in close meets. The fine diving efforts of Kevin Ferreira, through new assistant coach Morell's fine coaching, also proved to be very valuable.

A Season of Highs And Lows for the Whaler Girls

Coach Jeanne Bonneau's Girls Basketball team, led by senior co-captains Kelly Dreher and Bernie Sylvia, experienced a rocky season filled with victorious wins and disappointing losses. Although the Whalers lacked height, they continued to be the quick, outside shooting hard workers that they are.

Dreher, a two-time second team Division I all-star, led the squad in points during the season. Sylvia, in addition to being an excellent outside shooter, was a fantastic ballhandler as well. Juniors Pam Souza and Cheryl Stroud came out shining under pressure during the tougher games of the season like Wareham and Bishop Stang. Sophomore Michelle Almeida and Sue Rasmussen proved to be strong members of the forward line-up.

Despite disappointing losses to D-Y, Bishop Feehan, and the second game against Durfee, the girls showed enthusiasm and confidence throughout the year. N.B. loses their co-captains via the graduation route, but fortunately has a solid nucleus for the next season.

The New Bedford High School Boys' Basketball Team, led by senior captain Peter Armanetti, seemed to electrify the crowd with its spectacular all-around playing this season. Even though junior Très Lewis was the only returning starter from last year's 16-4 team, the squad proved their ability in the tougher games by their quickness, defense, and intense will to win.

The Whalers were a capable and threatening team this year due mainly to the ball-handling of seniors Armanetti and Marc Faria, the outside shooting of Hector Barros and sophomore Steve Wynn, and most importantly the height and leaping abilities of seniors John Haddocks, David Conceicao, and Très Lewis — the team's highest scorer.

All of the players demonstrated the necessary character and commitment to carry an exciting campaign throughout the 1984-85 season — particularly against Cambridge Rindge and Latin High, O.L.P., and the Hilltoppers of Durfee High School.

In addition to the players mentioned, the seniors who played their last season were Richie Gomes and Jack N'Guia.

With the help of growing support for them, the NBHS Gymnastics team had a great year. Led by Coach Sheila Doherty, the girls won all meets except two against Somerset which were lost by only small margins. Anne Schwartz and Beth Shaughnessy continued to keep spectators in awe of their spectacular routines, done with such perfection that they continually won top honors in all meets. In fact, their names stand at the top of any list comprised of league champions. With all but seniors Anne Schwartz and Chris Ferreira returning next year, these fine gymnasts should have continuing success.

NBHS Hockey Team Gets New Coach

This year Greg Tougas replaced John Rolli as the hockey coach for the NBHS Whalers. It was an induction by fire — or ice — in this case, as the Whalers struggled through a disappointing season. Perhaps the greatest moment of accomplishment for this determined team was its near victory over powerhouse Dennis-Yarmouth. The game was lost on an extremely controversal call. In fact, in a rare act, the opposing coach agreed the call had indeed been a poor one and had cost NBHS the game after having played superbly throughout.

In spite of the hard work of the team, the never-ending efforts of Capt. Paul Goguen, and the excellent net minding of sophomore goalie Dusty Cormier; the Whalers finished the season with a record of 4-12-2. The seniors who leave have nothing to be ashamed of, for they gave it their all; and the members who remain for next year are confident that they will turn things around with a little more experience.

The New Bedford High track teams started slowly but gathered up steam down the stretch as they established themselves as one of the premiere boys' and girls' track squads in the competitive SMC.

The boys' team was led by the outstanding performances of Andy Wolfe (2-mile). Seniors Mike Cruz (600 and relay), Steve Klakowicz (1000 and relay), Joe Taveira (600 and relay), and George Jacques (50 and 300) added to the honors. Clutch performances by Michelle Girard (300, 600, and relay) and Sue Caron (2-mile) paved the way for the girls in a winning fashion. The 1984-1985 track team is to be commended for their outstanding efforts and another successful season.

As we get ready to depart, we reflect back on our days of growth.

We came in numbers from many places . . . as individuals.

Then we came together . . .
Each one giving of himself . . .

Each one bringing something special —

We were inspired . . .
And
became the best we could be —

We achieved in a school . . .

that has also achieved —

We grew strong from our proud heritage . . . And wise from our elders —

We are proud of what we've achieved . . .

We are proud of what we've become —

We will continue to strive for excellence . . .

And we will continue to achieve
Because we have been taught

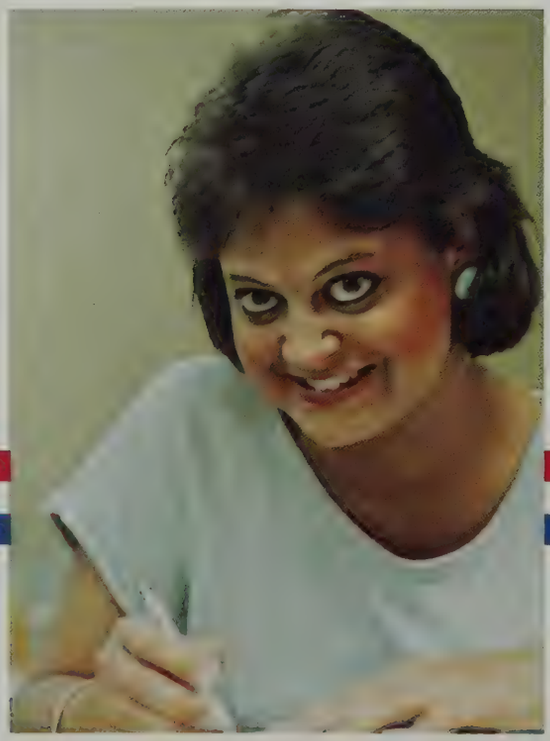
We can achieve —

The outside world recognized our excellence —

We made it . . . To the top —

We face tomorrow . . .



With smiles and confidence —

And we will remember forever
our home . . .

JUNIOR BANQUET

"Coming Alive!"

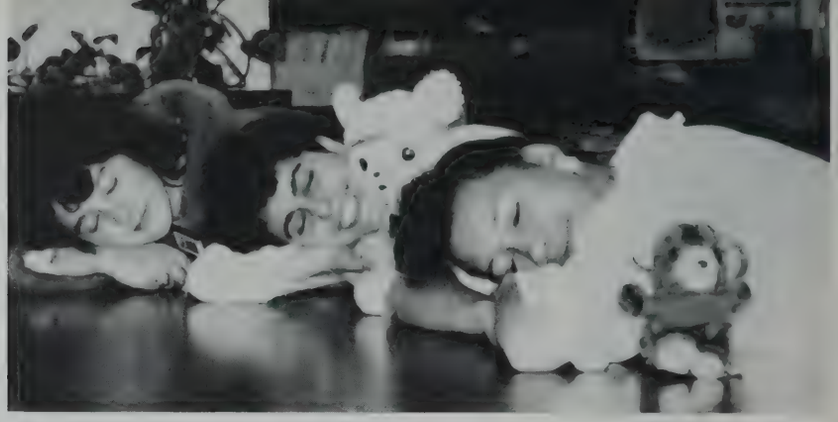
On Thursday, May 26, 1984 at the Skipper Inn, the Class of '85 gathered for its Junior Banquet. It was a night of dining, dancing, and entertainment.

Michael Cruz, Jeff McKay, and Steve Klakowicz (otherwise known as Sargent L'Amour and the Soldiers of Love) performed an original routine to Billy Joel's "For the Longest Time." Robert Andrade accompanied by Michelle LeBlanc on piano sang a solo.

The class decided to show its spirit by acting out Van Halen's hit "Jump" with several members touching the ceiling!

All in all it was a memorable night.

SPIRIT AWAKENS AT NBHS



The sleeping giant called "Spirit" awoke in full force in November to display his wares during Pajama Day, Toga Day, Outrageous Day, All Sports Day and Masquerade Day of "Spirit Week." Decked out in garments of various sorts and loads of imagination, the Class of '85 certainly added enough color to NBHS to rival any of the four colors found in the four houses.

Throughout Spirit Week a calliope of events was held to raise spirits and to raise funds for the Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets distributed to needy families.

Setting the tone for Spirit Week this year, Student Leadership Day was the first event. This was followed by the Drama Club's fall production and the Minority Awareness Club's fashion show. Then on Tuesday, Nov. 20th, the 2nd annual Student-Faculty volleyball game was held.

Wednesday proved to be a full day. The morning school rally disclosed the winners of the "spirit links," the masquerade contest, the jelly bean count and of course the class of '85 mascot, Animal!

The car decorating contest was held at 6:00 p.m. that evening and followed by the spirit parade at Buttonwood Park where the rally and bonfire were held.

Thursday was the traditional football game between NBHS and rival Durfee.

The finale was held on Saturday night in the girls' gym where the traditional Spirit Dance closed the week.

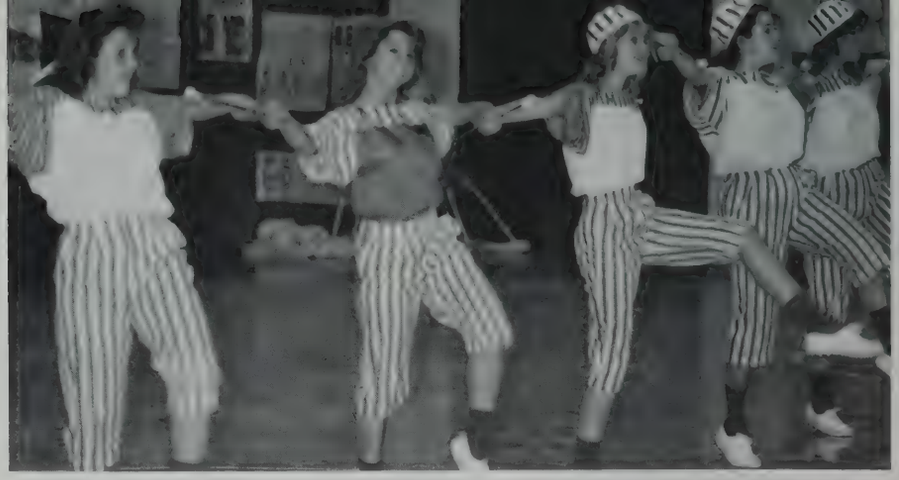
SPIRIT RALLY

Everyone from the crowd, the cheerleaders, the majorettes, the flag twirlers, the spirit club, the band, to the players themselves got into the act. NB truly "rocked the house" with pep and enthusiasm.

No one will forget the great time, nor the "thumb man" losing his skirt!



Painting the Town with Spirit!

The enthusiasm and spirit kept everyone warm during the spirit decorating contest and parade. The city folks were treated to a gala affair when the parade kicked off at 6:45 p.m. from the library and marched to Buttonwood Park. The band and football team, atop the ladder truck, led the way. They were followed by the contest cars and floats being brought along by the winner of the Mayor's Trophy — The Class of '85.

The senior mascot Animal, alias Stacey Smith, class president, accepted the trophy for the award-winning theme truck bearing the slogan, "Cook Those Turkeys!"

Congratulations to All Entries

Not every entry could receive a trophy but every entry certainly deserved one! For the hard work and time spent — thanks; for the results — CONGRATULATIONS!

BONFIRE!

"Everyone's There"

Young and old, students and graduates, athletes and fans — everyone follows the tradition of attending the big bonfire at Buttonwood Park on the eve of the big game. After the chill of the march up from the library, the heat from the huge inferno feels great!

Through the Pages of the Log

The yearbook is the culmination of all significant elements that comprise the high school years. Everything from activities, to questionnaires, to senior messages are included. Ms. Bizzarro, our advisor, constantly reminded us of the importance of being able to look back and vividly recall the events that made attending New Bedford High School special.

Preparations for the yearbook began in June with interviews for interested candidates. During summer sessions our editor-in-chief, Ana Chereta, chose the theme. Fellow editors met to decide on the cover, the print, and to learn the techniques of doing a layout.

However, the real work began when school started. Deadlines were the dreaded facts confronted; yet they weren't the only problems the collaboration of editors and staff had to face. Writing copy, retaking pictures, identifying pictures, drawing layouts, and proofreading were just a select few.

Much time and effort has been put into this yearbook. We consistently strove to produce the "perfect" yearbook, and we hope you will appreciate our work.

NBHS Students Lead the Way

New Bedford High has a large measure of self-government that provides its students with the opportunity to regulate their own affairs and to communicate their desires to other elements of the high school community.

The Student Advisory Committee and Student Representative to the School Committee consist of a group of seven students elected by their peers. These groups work closely with administrators and act as representatives of their fellow students. Over the years, SAC has been instrumental in the success of the Tutorial Center and in many school policy changes. They also encouraged students to improve their grades through the Academic Excellence Campaign.

Club presidents are also a significant part of the school. They are the ones who engender the spirit and leadership that is necessary for the success of their individual clubs.

The class officers also have an important role within the school. Not only do they represent their class, but they are also responsible for arranging the various social functions throughout the year.

To be a member of the Steering Committee involves great commitment. They collect monies for various functions, attend frequent meetings, and vote on issues concerning their class.

Student Leaders Set The Pace

The Student Congress is a body of over 100 students who act as representatives of the entire student population of NBHS. It sponsors the annual food drives and flower sales, helps the administration and runs class elections. Money raised by fundraisers is donated to worthy causes. Scholarships are also awarded to deserving members.

The SADD Club is an off-shoot of the Student Congress. They inform their peers of the dangers of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Mr. Taylor stands with a portion of the Student Congress organizations.

United We Grow . . .

The Inter-club Council and the Pep Club are two clubs who act as liasions with other groups. The Inter-club Council attempts to unite all school organizations, and the Pep Club acts as a link between the student body and cheering squads.

The Inter-club Council is made up of the vice-presidents of all the clubs at NBHS. The members are responsible for helping to dispense information to their individual clubs; help with Spirit Week; organize school dances and flea markets; and run activities that are of interest to everyone.

The Pep Club, the morale boosters of the school, are a very important part of our student body. During their calendar of events, they help with Spirit Week, cheer on the JV teams, add support to the cheerleaders, and help with special events.

Becoming Aware of the Contributions of Others . . .

While both the Minority Awareness Club and the History Club are two organizations who learn from the world around them, the Minority Awareness Club also teaches others about themselves. The major goal of the M.A. Club is to make others aware of the many contributions made by minorities and of the many roles they play in today's society.

Their special talents are especially evident during February's Black History Month when the club expends much time and energy to promote individual pride. In addition to the field trips, displays, cultural programs and general meetings, there is also a social side to the club.

The fun of talent shows and the flair of fashion shows have been shared with large audiences. Their Spirit Week float earned them an award and a chance to "strut their stuff" in the parade!

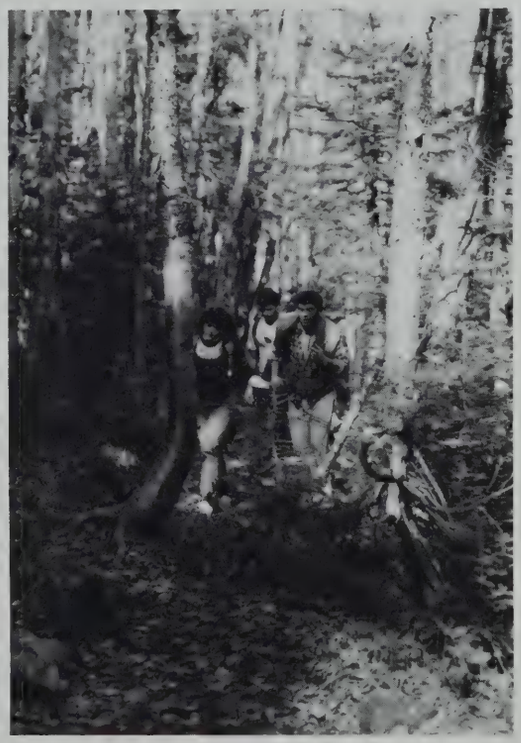
Great Outdoors Club

"Admiring the scenery . . . "



"Roughing it . . . "

Learning from the World Around Us

Both the Outdoors Club and the Natural Science Club are alike because members of those clubs are given a chance to go out and see the world around them. The Outdoors Club goes out and enjoys the benefits of our area while the Natural Science Club gets an outlook on urban life.

The Outdoors Club has scheduled many exciting adventures which supply its members with a wonderful mental experience to be remembered in the years following graduation. Some of the trips held this year were a ski trip during February vacation and a camping trip to South Carver. On these two trips the members were overwhelmed at the magnificent sights and amazed at finding out how much could be learned when having fun.

The Business World

During their stay here at New Bedford High School, many students have sought out career-oriented clubs. Two of these clubs are the Business Club and Distributive Education.

The Business Club members have organized activities such as car washes, cake sales, and general sales campaigns. In addition they have attended business conferences for meetings and seminars on business topics. Through these activities, they have tested their knowledge of the business world.

Distributive Education is more than a class or a club. The members run the non-profit bookstore, where their salesmanship is put to good use. Furthering their skills, they spend part of the school day in actual employment where they prepare for the future job market.

Intellectuals at Play . . .

Many students have gained membership into the National Honor Society, and have joined the Theatre Experience Club. These two groups show part of our intellectual side. Their excellence in academics is outstanding.

The Honor Society has had many annual activities including the annual Book Fair and Student Government Day. They also sponsor the costume contest during Spirit Week. The Theatre Experience Club has taken periodic trips viewing works of great playwrights. These two groups add another dimension to the activities program at New Bedford High School.

CULTURAL CLUBS . . .

Working with different cultural aspects from the world around us has given the Foreign Language Club, the American Field Service, and the International Club the opportunity to experience adventure and wonder. Through social, cultural and community-oriented activities they have developed a better understanding of the people around them.

The true meaning of education is the meeting and understanding of minds and cultures. It is for this good that these three clubs strive. Each member of the Foreign Language Club, the American Field Service, and the International Club is encouraged to learn about the worlds beyond their own and experience other cultures.

MEDIA MASTER MINDS

N.B.H.S. offers many activities associated with communications. Through membership in WIMC — TV, Crimson Courier, or Alpha, students have been able to display their talents in the weekly television show, School Scan; in the school's newspaper, the Crimson Courier; and in the school's annual literary magazine, Alpha. All the students involved have entertained others through their work by sharing their talents and creativity.

The students involved with the communication activities demonstrate the diversity of organizations offered at N.B.H.S. Throughout the year their goal of striving for perfection and knowledge is accomplished through their hard work for these three organizations.

AIDES DEMONSTRATE ABILITES

Main Office, TV, and Nurses' Aides benefit various parts of the school by working with students and faculty.

Main Office Aides greet visitors and also meet and assist students and all the faculty.

TV Aides receive hands on experience working with expensive equipment. They learn to work as a team helping fellow students to record videos and documentaries.

Nurses' Aides perform many tasks which will help them to prepare for a life in medicine. They help in relieving students' ailments by giving out creams and ice packs and taking temperatures.

AIDES PROVIDE SPECIAL TOUCH

Guidance and Resource Center aides learn responsibilities by working with one another.

The guidance aides work with the guidance counselors in locating students and faculty. They also help with paper work and the sending out of messages. By performing these duties the guidance counselors are able to spend more time with students.

Resource Center aides work hand in hand with students helping them locate books and giving out pink slips for studies. Not only do they help students but they also assist the staff members by organizing books and running off papers.

OFFICE AIDES PREVENT CHAOS IN SCHOOL

House Office Aides are a valuable necessity to the school. They relieve the office secretary of being swamped with non-essential clerical work. The office aides take an active part in various school duties. They help in filing, in typing reports, in answering phones, and in delivering messages throughout the school. The students also have the responsibilites of working on bulletins and answering questions for the students and the faculty.

THE DRAMA CLUB — A CREATIVE EXPERIENCE

The Drama Club prides itself for being one of the largest and most creative clubs in the school. During the year, the Drama Club presents two productions — the first, usually a drama or comedy; and the other, a musical. Most of the year is spent rehearsing, building sets, and checking lighting, costumes, and make-up to be sure that the production is a success.

At the end of the year, members spend a weekend in New York City. This trip gives them an opportunity to experience professional theatrical performances and to apply this knowledge to future productions.

The Man Who Came to Dinner

In this delightful comedy called "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Paul Foucart played Sheridan Whiteside, the old, pompous, wealthy gentleman who, after falling on the footsteps of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, extended his visit for three weeks. During his stay he managed to manipulate the lives of all those around him, including Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, played by Mark Nolin and Cheryl Lamb; Dr. Bradley, played by Victor Silveira; and Maggie Cutler, his secretary, played by Alyssa Lynch. Comic relief was provided by Banjo, a friend of Whiteside's, played by Marc LeBlanc; Miss Preen, his nurse, played by Susan Pires; Lorraine Sheldon, an extravagant seductress, played by Deidre Hickok; and Beverly Carlton, played by Eric Hubert.

As the play unfolds, we discover Whiteside's schemes and learn that this worldly gentleman is actually quite comfortable in this quiet, Midwestern town. In the end, Whiteside is forced to admit his selfish acts and leave, only to fall again on the footsteps and have to return once again to the comforts of the Stanley home!

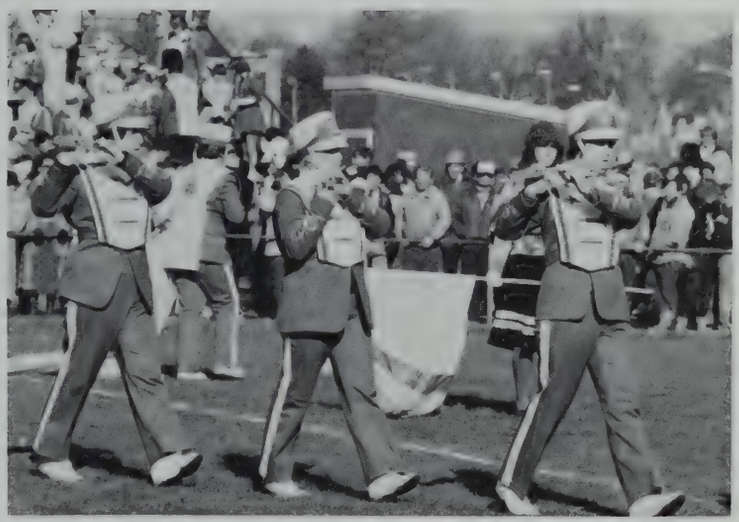
WHALER MARCHING BAND

Playing with Precision



Perfection at Its Best!

The Whaler Marching Band has become synonymous with the word PERFECTION! One of the few state bands to be invited to two Cotton Bowls, the only state band to win the New England Championship title for three years and the winner of numerous titles, the New Bedford High Band has been selected to represent the state in Washington, D.C. at the inaugurational parade.

Perfection does not come easily. The members started practicing in August for their first competition at Blackstone Millville. They were rewarded with first place. They excelled wherever they went and continued to sweep the judges off their feet.

At their competition in Hull, they reached a touch of perfection by winning a GOLD medal. This was the first gold medal ever awarded in Class IV. This led to the State Championship and then the coverted New England Class A Championship.

Through the efforts of many talented students and fine leadership and long hours put in by their director Mr. Don Vasconcelles and his associates and supporters, the Whaler Marching Band is where it belongs — on top!

More Than Waving a Flag . . .

The flag unit of the Whaler Marching Band is the icing on the cake. Although they are generally in the background as the band plays, it is their movement of brilliant colors that catches your eye. Their precision is extremely important since every move can be detected. They deserve a great deal of praise.

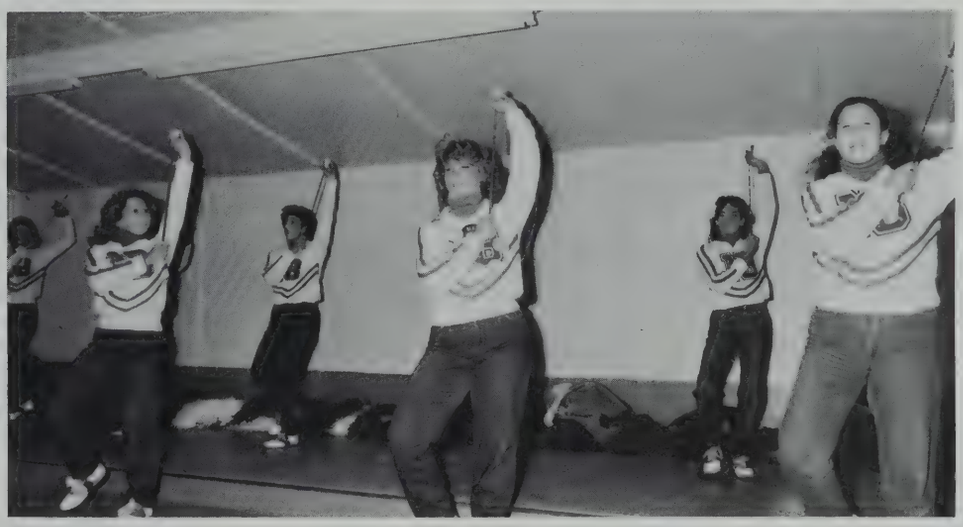
Stepping Out with Flair . . .



The NBHS Majorettes have grown into a unit of girls who do a little bit of everything. During the fall, they participate with the band in competitions and in football half-time shows. During the winter they spice up the half-times at basketball games. In addition to this and rallies, the girls also compete as an individual unit and hold their own competitions. All in all, they put in a busy year!

This year's Christmas Concert was a phenomenal success with more than 150 students participating. With the accompaniment of the NBHS band, the school orchestra, guitar classes and singing of all the choruses, the event was very praiseworthy. Mr. Don Vasconcelles deserves praise as conductor of the NBHS Band. Mr. Russell Campoli also did an excellent job conducting his fine group of instrumentalists. Together they made beautiful music.

America seems caught up in a never ending wave of cheer. Inflation is low. Employment is up. The country is at peace. In fact, 1984 was quite different from the nightmare that George Orwell imagined.

The Presidential election was the year's inescapable story. The top three Democratic candidates, Walter Mondale, Gary Hart, and John Glenn, battled it out for the nomination. Walter Mondale was chosen as the nominee and he in turn made his historic choice for his running mate; Geraldine Ferraro, the first woman on a major-party ticket. Nevertheless, Ronald Reagan still proved to be as popular as ever, winning 58 percent of the vote and 49 states.

However all was not as cheerful in other parts of the world. Who could feel good about seeing the infant faces of starvation in Ethiopia? Or the 21 bodies at a McDonald's in California? Or the hundreds of victims of a toxic gas leak cloud in India? The Middle East was still a place of unrest as Iran and Iraq entered the fifth year of their war, while the assassination of Indira Ghandi shocked the world.

On the entertainment side, Prince dominated the movie screens and airwaves with his musical movie "Purple Rain", and Eddie Murphy established himself as one of the leading comedians of our time in his memorable comedy "Beverly Hills Cop". But who could forget those three crazy guys running around catching ghosts? "Ghostbusters" was another box-office hit and its symbol popped up on everything in sight.

Throughout the summer, the Olympics held everyone's attention. A muscular pixie named Mary Lou Retton flew to astonishing heights, Greg Lauganis turned in one perfect dive after another, Joan Benoit triumphed as the winner of the first women's marathon, and Carl Lewis was everybody's hero. However the games were not without disappointment. Mary Decker, the favorite for the 3,000 meter gold, tripped over Britain's Zola Budd and forfeited a lifetime's dream.

It was also a year that the name Doug Flutie became synonymous with college football heroics. This record-setting, Heisman Trophy winner's "Hail Mary" passes in the game against UMIAMI will long be remembered.

Other highlights included the first free flight in space by space shuttle crewman Bruce McCandleless; a replacement of a human heart, first with a machine and then with a baboon's heart; nude photos of Vanessa Williams costing her the Miss America title; and finally the passing of the controversial student search ruling. All in all, this year has been a joyous one. And no one could be happier than the graduating Class of 1985!

The staff and students of New Bedford High have lost a true friend. Ed Burke, a quiet gentle man, was a dedicated educator. His concept of education for over thirty years involved placing the student first. Ed continued to believe and practice this even when his final illness would have forced a lesser man to retire. We shall miss the gifts he gave to us, but we shall strive for the ideals he set for us.

CONGRATULATIONS!

The Class of '85 welcomed an old friend to a new position this school year. The newest member of the administrative staff of NBHS, Mr. Henry Saltzman, was appointed housemaster of the Green House after Mr. Charles Luchetti retired at the end of the 1983-1984 school year.

Mr. Saltzman was himself a graduate of NBHS, and after college, he returned to teach math at our school for 21 years. He enjoyed his years in the classroom and as advisor to the "Beanie Boys," a most spirited group; but he was anxious for the challenge of administration.

Mr. Saltzman is proud of New Bedford High School's national recognition and feels that the key to a great school is the student body. He feels NBHS has the best student body of any high school, large or small. He adds that the Green House is the best house in terms of pride and school spirit (a statement which causes great debate from students of other houses).

When asked what makes him smile, the reply was . . .

"Anytime we beat Durfee!"

When asked what makes him the happiest, the reply was . . .

"When the Green House comes out on top!"

LITTLE MISS DYNAMITE . . .

Packed into a deceivingly small frame is a megaton of energy in the person of Mrs. Rhoda Purcell, one of our senior class advisors. This young woman wears many hats! In addition to teaching and being senior class advisor, she is also the advisor to the Minority Awareness Club. The sellout talent shows at NBHS have been through her dynamic efforts. She has managed to create a club which has brought itself great honor and which has made many contributions to NBHS.

Mrs. Purcell gives a great deal of her extra time to her students in and out of school. She has helped numerous students with college applications, interviews, jobs; and the most important item, a development of a positive self-image.

Without a doubt, her most important role is being a mother to two daughters: Jamie, 7, who firmly believes she has all the answers to the world; and Kimberly, 4, who is sure she has all the questions!

When asked about the national recognition received by NBHS, Mrs. Purcell was quick to say that she felt the dedication of the faculty and the enthusiasm of the student body were the deciding factors in our winning the award. She hopes these traits will continue into the future.

GOOD LUCK

MR. OLIVER

Our class advisor, Mr. Joseph Oliver, left New Bedford High School at the end of our junior year to become vice-principal at Normandin Junior High School. Although Mr. Oliver left the building, he continued to be a part of the school and of the senior class.

Mr. Oliver was a New Bedford High School graduate and taught for 10 years in the Math Department. He was reluctant to leave New Bedford High because of the students but remained involved in the school by attending many school activities and by remaining the senior class advisor.

Mr. Oliver found the Class of '85 to be full of enthusiasm and school pride. He agreed that NBH is a great school and he is glad that he was part of the school when NBH was awarded national honors. In addition to this, Mr. Oliver offered some good advice to the senior class. He hopes that every senior will set a goal and work hard to accomplish it.

Although Mr. Oliver enjoys his work, he misses the classroom and someday hopes to return home to NBHS.

BEHIND THE SCENES . . .

Helping N.B.H.S. win national recognition were a group of people usually found behind the scenes. The senior class wants to thank the cafeteria staff, the custodial staff, the secretarial staff and the maintenance staff. These groups play an important part in the running of the high school and make up the NBHS family with the students and staff. Sometimes we forget the roles they play in the everyday happenings of the school; and therefore, the Class of '85 takes this chance to salute each and every one of them for this contribution to our Flag of Excellence.

WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM OUR FRIENDS

Helping our students become the best they can be are the staff of the tutorial programs. NBHS offers tutoring services to students in need of academic help in all subject areas. The Upward Bound Program, a federally funded program in conjunction with SMU, offers tutoring in college-preparatory courses to low-income students planning to continue their education beyond high school. Mr. John Sykes, the academic coordinator, and Mr. Robert Fortes, the counselor, also provide financial aid assistance for college and SAT preparation, as well as personal counseling. About 60 students each year are helped through the Upward Bound Program. It is evident that the main purpose of the program is its dedication to the academic achievement of its students.

In addition, the NBHS Tutorial Program, sponsored by the Student Advisory Committee, encourages students to achieve academic success. Since September 1981, the Tutorial Center has produced positive academic results for over 750 pupils. The Tutorial Center was part of the SAC's "Academic Excellence" campaign, which encouraged students to try harder and to give the best they can. Members of the Honor Society, the Student Congress, and the JROTC, as well as other volunteer tutors, were asked to help a fellow student improve study skills which would lead to higher academic achievement. The Tutorial Center could not have been a success without the combined efforts of the SAC, Mr. John Robinson, the program coordinator, and dedicated staff and student tutors who devoted their time to make academic excellence a goal for all students.

FACULTY FUNNIES . . .

"This is carrying the open classroom idea a little too far!"

"I hate corridor duty on Sundays!"

"This is the last time I'm telling you — two C's and one N!"

"These matchbox cars are killers to work on!"

"I told you I wouldn't retire until I was 85!"

"The 'T-ayes' have it!"

"Okay, Ms. Dean, look closely. Who stole Mr. Calnan's Irish record?"

"And the Pied Piper led the children away . . . "

"Well, here are the three finalists for prom queen!"

"I'm telling you, Nancy, you look great up there!"

THE EDITOR-IN-CHIEF'S MESSAGE TO YOU . . .

Now that the yearbook has been completed, I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has helped to make this yearbook a success. First, special thanks goes to Ms. Beverly Bizzarro, without whose advice and guidance this yearbook would not have been a reality. I would also like to thank the 1985 Crimson Log staff for their work. Without you, we wouldn't have made it! Thanks also goes to Mr. Dick Swiech of Hunter Publishing Company and to the Dodge-Murphy photographers for their efforts.

The yearbook staff spent many happy hours preparing the Crimson Log '85. We hope you will enjoy the book and continue to believe and be proud of the tradition of our city and our high school.
